“ Ibrahim was a graduate student of mine at Towson University during the Spring 2012 semester, for the AIT600 Information Technology Infrastructure class. I found Ibrahim to be an excellent student who always greeted me with a positive and dedicated attitude in completing all of his assignments promptly, completely, and with the utmost professionalism. Ibrahim demonstrated great interpersonal skills when working with other students in class discussions and group projects. He demonstrated the ability to present information in a clear manner through oral class presentations, and in written assignments, both individually and group formats. I believe he will continue to excel in all courses and careers he chooses.

— Dan Bernhardt, Adjunct Faculty, Towson University, and Director of Financial Reporting Systems and Analysis, Amtrak.

“Congrats! You inspire me to do well in school. Love always.

— Stephanie Crane, Student, Maryland.
